Wheeling Man May Know Facts In Prison Break

Wheeling Steel Worker Identified As Accomplice In Jaworski Freeing.

SUSPECT IS NOT WILLING TO TALK

Allegheny County Jail Book-keeper Positive In Identifying Man.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—Identified by pictures and detectives as the outside accomplice who aided the sensational jail break of Paul Jaworski and Jack Vass-binder, convicted murderers from the Allegheny county jail here Thursday afternoon during which two prison guards were wounded, Paul Wisniewski, 31, a mill worker, was to be questioned today as to his knowledge of the crime.

Wisniewski was arrested by Allegheny county detectives late last night near a rooming house in Wheeling, West Virginia. He was immediately placed under heavy guard and rushed in an automobile, to Pittsburgh. He is being held in the county jail under special guard. Other jailers armed with riot guns, are patrolling the building in an attempt to frustrate any further deliveries.

Identification of Wisniewski was made by Paul Beiswenger, jail book-keeper. Beiswenger was positive in his identification.

COUNTY GETS $18,893.63 AS SHARE OF GAS TAX

County Treasurer David E. Nessel received a check this morning from State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis for $18,893.63, which is Lawrence county's share on the gasoline tax paid in for the first six months of the present year.

This amount represents one-half cent per gallon for each gallon on which tax was paid and means that from January 1 to June 30, there were 3,778,726 gallons of gasoline sold in Lawrence county. Or rather the tax was paid on this many gallons. To this of course can be added an estimate of how many gallons were sold upon which the tax was not paid or which was "bootlegged" here.

Fiendish Murder Is Perpetrated In Baltimore District

Two Men Beaten, Then Gasoline Is Poured Over Clothing And Ignited.

ONE MAN IS DEAD; OTHER MAY EXPIRE

Police Believe That Bootleg Feud Is Behind Terrible Crime.

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—A fiendish murder in which one man was burned to death and another so badly burned that he probably will die was perpetrated early today in the Middle River resort district.

John C. Haraway, 25, is dead, and his companion, Chester Pugh, 29, is dying in Baltimore City hospital. They were beaten up, gasoline poured over them and a match applied to their clothing.

"The Kid Got Me"

Haraway died on the operating table in great agony, screaming "The Kid got me, the Kid got me."

A short time later, police arrested a local pugilist known as "Kid" Julian, and Edward Gaff, his companion.

Pugh told the police that he and Haraway were returning to their cottage on Middle River early this morning in an automobile at a lonely point on the road. He said another machine blocked the way and its three occupants dragged them from their car, beat them up with black-jacks and threw them into a deserted cottage nearby.

Half conscious, Pugh told the police he heard one of the men say "hit him again, Kid."

See Bootleg Feud

The next thing he knew gasoline was being poured on him, he said and a match applied. The men left hurriedly. Pugh said he managed to crawl to a window and throw himself out.

He crawled to a nearby brook and tumbled in. The water extinguished the flames but he is so badly burned doctors say he cannot recover.

The cottage caught fire and somebody notified the Essex police station. The police put the fire out and dragged the charred but still breathing Haraway from the building.

The police are inclined to believe a bootleg feud was responsible for the attack.

Rubber Samples Made Of Nevada Clay Cause Easterners To Take Big Option

(International News Service)
TONOPAH, Nev., Aug. 20.—Considerable excitement has been stirred up here by samples of a peculiar clay and small specimens of rubber made from it. The clay comes from a large deposit about twenty miles from Las Vegas and the rubber samples are the result of experiments made with the clay by a firm of eastern chemists, whose names the owners of the clay deposit decline to reveal. This firm has given an option on the ground said to comprise several hundred acres and to contain millions of tons of the clay.

The clay samples shown here have a glassy surface and appear to contain some of the elements of mineral soap. It is claimed this clay

Sacco-Vanzetti Counsel Asking Another Respite

Governor Fuller Asked To Grant Delay To Bring Case To Supreme

FILE APPLICATION IN SUPREME COURT

Court Not In Session—No Action Can Be Taken Until October 3.

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Balked in "last-minute" attempts to obtain a stay of execution for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti away from Justice James M. Morton, Jr., of the United States circuit court of appeals, Chief Defense Counsel Arthur D. Hill made another appeal today to Governor Alvan T. Fuller for a respite in order that the case may be dealt with by the supreme court of the United States.

After dispatching a plea to the governor by letter, Attorney Hill hurried to Beverly Farms to ask Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States supreme court for a stay of execution until application to the United States supreme court for a writ of certiorari can be heard.

Letter to Governor.

Attorney Hill's letter to Governor Fuller follows:

"In the case of Sacco and Vanzetti, I have sent to Washington for filing with the supreme court of the United States, writs of certiorari in order to bring the cases before that tribunal. I have also ordered copies of the necessary records. Under these circumstances, I respectfully request that a further respite may be granted the defendants in order that the case may be dealt with by the supreme court of the United States. I may add that I regret being obliged to make this further application to you and I propose taking what steps are possible to secure an order for a stay from some United States court. In view, however, of the shortness of time, it is not certain that it will be possible for us to do this, and for that reason I feel constrained to make this application to you.

"I do not feel that the matter ought to rest in a race for time. Our petitions for certiorari were sent to the supreme court at Washington at the earliest possible moment subsequent to our receiving word of the adverse decision of the lower court."

FLAMES SWEEP POMEROY, OHIO

Fifteen Stores And Many Homes Destroyed In Fire Raging In Ohio Town.

DAMAGE PLACED AT $500,000

(International News Service)
GALLIPOLIS, O., Aug. 20.—Fifteen stores and many residences had been destroyed in a fire which swept through the town of Pomeroy, O., near here, according to a message received here, asking that the local fire department be sent at once to help combat the blaze in the fire-swept city today.

The fire was still raging out of control at a late hour this morning, and unofficial estimates of the loss ranged from $500,000 upward.

The fire, according to reports here, began in a garage soon after two a. m. and spread to the business district of the town.

Firemen were hindered in their fight by inability to obtain a sufficient water supply, although the town is situated directly on the Ohio river. Recent landslides, it is said, crippled the city's water supply system.

There were horns and wooden rattles, there were pans of every sort, someone had a big bull riddle that let out a lusty snort. There were kids of all descriptions, every one to make a noise, such a clatter and a ruckus from that gang of girls and boys. To the din they added yelling, what a booming fuss they made, and they all were in their glory at that last night serenade. Seemed as though a boiler factory had let loose with all that din, and they used most every metal, iron, steel, and brass and tin. And they boomed and howled and rattled till the windows seemed to bend, then the bride appeared and presto, all the racket seemed to end. Everybody got some candy, for the fun that they'd been through, they all slipped off bound homeward, weather, oh yes, seventy-two.

Three Miners Are Killed At Mines Near Scranton

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 20.—Mine accidents near here took a toll of three lives today when James Correll, 50, William Austin, 24, and Evan W. Webb, 30, were killed in disasters at two separate mines.

Correll, father of nine children, was crushed to death beneath a fall of roof in the gravity slope of the Hudson Coal company at Archbald.

In another upper valley accident of a similar nature in the Olympian No. 2 mine of the Hudson company, Austin and Webb were killed.

Austin had been married only nine months, Webb was the father of five children.

The three men had been idle many weeks because of dull market, and had returned to work only two days ago.

NINE HUNDRED SEE FOLK DANCES

Playground Children At Carnegie Company Present Pageant Friday

Although it was too wet to stage the Carnegie playground folk dance exhibition on the lawn in front of the Carnegie auditorium on South Jefferson street, last night, it was not too wet to dampen the spirits of over 900 men, women and children, who turned out for the affair.

It was previously planned to hold the event on the lawn in front of the building, but as the weather was unfavorable, the scene of activity was shifted to the stage of the auditorium.

It was a gala affair and the children presented a beautiful appearance in their many-colored costumes. Some of the children representing different countries, appeared in the costume which the natives of these countries wear.

This event last night was the final program of folk dances. It was in the nature of a closing exhibition along the line of recreation which the Carnegie company has been conducting since the older girls and Miss Mary Miller, in charge of the smaller girls.

Movies were shown in the auditorium at the close of the program.

convening on a point about 600 miles off the coast where Bill Erwin's "Dallas Spirit" sent out its last radio call. The airplane carrier, Langley, which had been following the Great Circle course in search of the Golden Eagle and the Miss Doran, also rushed to the supposed position of the Dallas Spirit. Observation planes will shoot from the Langley's decks to take up the search for Erwin and Eichwald, who are believed to have gone down on their flight of mercy.

In another upper valley accident of a similar nature in the Olympian No. 2 mine of the Hudson company, Austin and Webb were killed.

Austin had been married only nine months, Webb was the father of five children.

The three men had been idle many weeks because of dull market, and had returned to work only two days ago.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The dramatic fight being waged to save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the electric chair reached the United States supreme court today.

As a sort of forlorn gesture, Michael A. Musmanno of counsel for the condemned men, walked into the empty chambers of the supreme court this morning and filed an application for a writ of certiorari. The court is not in session and there is no member of the bench in the capital.

Presumably, the only purpose of filing the petition here is to lay the basis for a new plea for another extension of time before the sentences are carried out. Having taken the case to the nation's highest judicial tribunal, attorneys for the doomed men can now go before an individual justice of the court, or before state authorities in Massachusetts, and argue for a new respite on the ground that it would be unfair to execute Sacco and Vanzetti while a motion in their behalf is pending in the supreme court of the United States.

No action on the writ itself can be taken before the supreme court reassembles on Oct. 3 next.

Musmanno's action today took the form of application for two writs, one directed at the Massachusetts supreme court and the other at the Massachusetts superior court.

STEAMERS RUSHING TO POINT WHERE FLARES ARE REPORTED

to the search for Captain Erwin and his navigator Alvin H. Eichwald.

Vessels Continue Search.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The navy continued its search today for the missing aviators who failed to reach Honolulu in the Dole race. At the same time, naval ships were ordered to keep a sharp lookout for Capt. Billy Erwin and his navigator, A. H. Eichwald, who are believed to have been forced down 600 miles off the coast of California when searching for the lost Dole fliers.

Since Erwin's last radio message gave his position minutely, the site of his mishap should be reached without difficulty. Erwin's plane, the "Dallas Spirit," was equipped with an emergency rubber life boat, but if the "tail spin" described in a final message, resulted in the crashing of the plane, it is unlikely that the aviators would have had time to launch the boat.

May Have Sunk.

If the plane crashed, as the last dramatic messages suggested, it may have sunk without leaving a trace of the tragic disaster.

In the meantime, awards have mounted to $40,000 for the saving of the five lost aerial adventurers. Crafts of all sizes were patrolling the waters for signs of either planes or survivors. There were said to be about 50 ships engaged in the search, the largest number ever to be enlisted in a similar project.

Rumors spread thick and fast over the Pacific coast cities today. Definite tidings of those lost, however, could not be obtained and those whose hope rode highest were not to be misled.

From Honolulu came word that 35 United States submarines and other government craft were continuing their search for the five Dole birds, but thus far no word of a clew to the missing fliers had been received here.

Radio Communication.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Naval radio headquarters announced at 2 p. m. today that their operators had established contact with the destroyers that went to the position last given by "Spirit of Dallas." This plane with Pilot Bill Erwin and Navigator Alvin Eichwald, is believed to have dropped into the sea when flying from Oakland to Honolulu in search of the missing Dole planes "Golden Eagle" and "Miss Doran."

The three destroyers, Lavalatte, Sumner and Hazelwood, had nothing to report at that time, naval operators said, but promised to flash any discoveries as soon as they were made.

Last Dramatic Words.

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 20.—"I'm going to take my time to Honolulu. I'm not trying to make any stunt flight now. What I'm after is to find that girl—and those fellows that I saw go out last Tuesday."

These words—perhaps the last that will be heard from his lips—were spoken by Captain William Erwin late yesterday as he climbed aboard the "Dallas Spirit" to begin his heroic errand of mercy across the treacherous uncertain waters of the Pacific.

Those words echoed and re-echoed in the minds of watchers today as they meditated the likelihood that Capt. Erwin and his brave navigator, A. H. Eichwald, had met a fate similar to that of the five persons who were shot down on the Pacific.

"We are going into a tail spin," that dramatic message, leaping across the ether—and then silence—seemed to pronounce the doom of the gallant pair.

Saw Flare.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The Federal Telegraph company received the following at midnight from the steamer West Sequana:

"In latitude 37.32 north, longitude 127.22 west, at 72 midnight, Pacific standard time, saw flare. Standing by until daylight. Saw flare repeated."

At 8 p. m. last night the West Sequana was 798 miles west of San Francisco, bound for Shanghai.

Believe Rescuer Down.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Capt. William Erwin, who took off from here late yesterday afternoon in the "Dallas Spirit" to search the seas for the missing planes of the Dole Honolulu race, is believed to have fallen in the sea.

The last word from the "Dallas Spirit" was picked up here at 9:02 p. m. (Pacific Time), saying the ship was in a tail spin.

Through early hours of the night the plane that carried Capt. Erwin as pilot and A. H. Eichwald, navigator, was in constant radio communication with the receiving station in Oakland.

At 8:50 this message came from the "Dallas Spirit":—"We are in tail spin."

"Relay that we came out of it O. K., but were sure scared. It sure was a close call. We thought it was all over but we came out of it. The lights on the instrument board went out and it was—"

Then—"We are in another."

Since then no word has been received from the "Dallas Spirit."

The commander of the 12th naval district of San Francisco figures the position of the planes at approximately 592 nautical miles from San Francisco.

Four Flares.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Four reddish flares, reported sighted by the mate and lookout of the freighter West Sequana, came early today as the most hopeful omen in the four-day search for the lost Dole planes, Golden Eagle and the Miss Doran.

A third plane, the Dallas Spirit, which left Oakland late yesterday to search for the Hearst plane and the "flying School Marm" ship, is also feared to be lost in the Pacific.

The loss of Capt. Kerwin and his navigator would bring the total missing in the Dole flight to seven, with three killed and three planes lost and three wrecked. Two other planes partially wrecked.

Capt. Erwin volunteered to hunt for the Hearst plane, "Golden Eagle" and the "Miss Doran," which have not been heard from since they left San Francisco last Tuesday.

The "Dallas Spirit," in which Erwin and his companion were flying, was thought to be about 700 miles out from San Francisco when the S. O. S. reported the scene in a tail spin.

Nearing Plane of Flares.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Searching out the source of four mysterious flares sighted today between 250 and 300 miles off the Pacific coast, the freighter West Sequana today was slowly circling the position from which the flares were noted.

The ship reported by wireless thru Federal Telegraph company that heavy mist banks in the early dawn were blocking the hunt.

It was reported by wireless that the West Sequana would continue the search for four hours before proceeding.

Three of the flares were reported to have been sighted by the West Sequana shortly after midnight, Pacific coast time, today. A fourth flare was seen about 4:20 a. m., the freighter reported.

The flares shot into the sky from a point about three miles off the steamer's starboard bow, the wireless messages reported. The West Sequana is standing by till daylight to investigate the source of the rockets.

The full report of the sighting of the signals follows:

"Three flares fading to red were sighted by our mate and lookout off the starboard bow. The distance was approximately three miles. Our position at midnight was latitude 7.52, longitude 127.22 west, while steering 284 degrees true. Standing by until daylight to ascertain source of the flares."

The West Sequana is a United States Shipping board freighter, operated by Swain & Hoyt of San Francisco. She sailed from the Golden Gate Thursday night for Shanghai, China.

Mechanics at the Oakland airport explained that flares carried by both the Miss Doran and the Golden Eagle flash into a reddish glow before fading.

The position of the West Sequana, however, is nearly 300 miles away from the point at which the Dallas Spirit sent her last report. The flares, therefore, if sent up by a plane, are believed to come from the Golden Eagle or the Miss Doran.

WHEELING MAN MAY KNOW FACTS IN PRISON BREAK

Wisniewski denied all knowledge of the escape but was unable to account for his actions on Wednesday and Thursday.

Wisniewski was unwilling to talk and a grilling disclosed no information as to the whereabouts of either Jaworski or Vassbinder.

The suspect has prison record. He served 10 months in the Allegheny county workhouse for bootlegging. Detectives secured a Bertillon photograph from the workhouse authorities and then went to Wheeling after a "hot tip" was given them that Wisniewski was staying in that city.

Just as the county detectives were leaving the house at 2425 Main street, Wheeling, because they could find no trace of the suspect, a small boy hopped on the side of the detective's automobile. He was ordered off by a detective but another asked him if he knew a man who talked with the photograph who was displayed.

"Sure!" He lives right up there, I'll show you." He led him. For as the detectives under the direction of Chief Murrin surrounded the house

Wisniewski attempted to leave and enter an automobile.

He will be grilling further today, county detectives said.

Denies Accusations.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—Two hours of severe grilling by detectives today failed to shake the story of Paul Wisniewski, 31, of Wheeling, that he had no part in the bold jail-break here last Thursday in which Paul Jaworski, Detroit and John Vassbinder, Pittsburgh, shot their way to freedom.

Identification by the jail book-keeper as the visitor who gave Jaworski and Vassbinder three guns and then led them from the jail, during which two guards were shot, did not visibly affect the suspect.

"I was visiting friends in Ohio at the time of the jail delivery," Wisniewski told detectives. He claimed he worked nights at a mill.

The grilling concluded, Wisniewski was remanded to a cell while detectives left to check his story.

No definite word as to the whereabouts of Jaworski and Vassbinder has been received although numerous tips have been found false.

GRANGE GIVEN HIGH RATING

Secretary Of Agriculture, Dr. C. G. Jordan, Says It's Ideal Farm Organization.

(By W. C. GUMBEL)

In speaking to the Grange leaders of Pennsylvania assembled at Centre Hall for the fourth annual Grange Leadership conference, Dr. Chas. G. Jordan, state secretary of agriculture declared that "Farm folk should stay in the country for the benefit of the boys and girls to develop character and initiative. We are lifting agriculture in the state of Pennsylvania to the highest level and are doing a tremendous amount of work that is of interest to the farmer in making rural life more desirable."

Dr. Jordan gave a clear and vivid description of the work that is being carried on and will be carried on in his department.

"A campaign for the elimination of destructive wild flowers in Pennsylvania, laying particular stress on the wild mustard, wild carrot, and the thistle will be launched next summer," the secretary declared.

One of the most talked of problems of agriculture in America is cooperation in practically every branch of farm production. This topic was touched upon by Dr. Jordan when he emphasized that "The Grange is the old and distributed farm organization; one that will always play a prominent part in the development of cooperative farm programs."

The conference programs have included many interesting features that have been of a real and instructive value to the Grangers assembled. Instruction is given in interior decorating, stage setting and decorating and rural athletics. ### CITY'S HOSPITALITY TO BE ON TRIAL

DURING the early part of the month of October, the hospitality of New Castle will be put to the test. The biggest convention ever attempted in the history of the State Sabbath School Association, is being arranged for New Castle.

Due to the fact that New Castle now has the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and the magnificent auditorium, providing seating facilities for nearly 3500, especial effort is being made throughout the state to make the New Castle convention the greatest ever attempted.

No city in the state has ever offered such a fine situation. There is no question about taking care of the state convention, insofar as the meeting place is concerned. This is arranged. The convention program is also one that will be of high calibre, bringing some notable speakers and workers here for the week.

But, the matter of providing accommodations for some 2500 delegates who will come to New Castle for the event, is where the city is to be tested, where its hospitality is to be put on trial, as it were.

Members of the County Sabbath School organization are already at work through the county, securing homes where delegates will be entertained. The response has been fine, and it is believed that it will continue, so that arrangements can easily be made for taking care of the host of delegates.

Those in charge of this immense task of finding accommodations for the delegates are confident that the response will be more than enough to meet the demand, but it is urged upon all that the decisions be made at once and report given to the committee.

The plan of entertainment for delegates was outlined in Friday's issue of The News.

FILLING GARY'S JOB

THE death of the head of the United States Steel Corporation inspired immediate speculations as to his successor, conjectures being indulged in as freely by the man on the street as the man on Wall Street. And they were not due solely to interest among financial people and industrial executives in a great prize of their world nor to ordinary interest such as shown in prize fights, trans-oceanic flights, politics and the world's series.

Thoughtful people in every walk of life realize that the man who fills the chair made vacant by the death of Judge Gary can exert great influence for good or evil in the life of the nation.

Steel is interwoven into the entire economic structure of this country and virtually every other country; and the United States Steel Corporation is the backbone of the industry. When this industry is prosperous other industries are prosperous, and vice versa.

Managed conservatively in operation and finance, U. S. Steel sets a policy that influences directly and indirectly virtually all industry and business; and speculative management likewise would be reflected in many directions.

Though it has no vote in the matter, the public is vitally interested in the selection of leaders of such great organizations as the United States Steel Corporation. The nation, if not the world, would suffer irreparably from the selection of a reckless or incompetent man. The men in these commanding positions in industry are the trustees for the nation as well as for the security-holders.

NEW POST OFFICES

POSTAL experts have advised President Coolidge that $300,000,000 is urgently needed for erection of new post offices and enlargement of present structures and that the expenditure of $20,000,000 a year during the next ten years will not keep the facilities up to the needs.

One suspects this was not good news to the president, and it certainly is not music in the ears of the taxpayer millions who are clamoring for reduction of government expenditures and further tax cuts.

But for the filibuster in the closing days of the last session, congress would probably have appropriated $10,000,000 a year during the next ten years for new post offices and postal extension. Congress' failure to provide even this inadequate sum makes it more imperative that the next congress give this question early consideration.

The president and a majority of senators, it is understood, now favor giving the post office department the amount it asks, but that is no guarantee the appropriation will pass when the time comes. Of late it has become as difficult to get money from congress for a new post office building as it is to get merchant marine subsidies.

What is the reason? The need for new and larger buildings in many communities is admitted by all, so the explanation cannot be found here. It is because in the old days of "pork barrel" politics not all the money appropriated for post offices was used for that purpose and so left an indelible stigma on the post office appropriation? Or is it because millions of postal patrons who already have monumental post offices are asking their congressmen not to spend "their money" for post offices for others?

The country can wait for architectural distinction in its post offices but it cannot wait for adequate post office facilities.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight at 6:53; sun rises tomorrow at 5:16.

Once upon a time there was a father and mother who used to stay at home on account of the children.

Thousands of pieces of mail are being sent out now by the Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association and every envelope and letter has advertising matter on it for New Castle. Get ready for the big Sunday school convention in New Castle in October.

It is reported that Mrs. Charley Chaplin is to get about six hundred thousand dollars if she will let up on old funny feet. She has earned every dollar of that amount already, and that Chaplin bird evidently knows what's good for him when he offers to settle.

Have you roasting yet? So have we.

Lucky is the candidate who has no opposition. However, we have known of candidates who could not even vote themselves, and in such cases might have been defeated even if they had no opposition.

The coming congress is going to try and regulate the oil and gasoline situation in America. If that is tried, watch the price of that stuff go up. It will drive the producers to organization and the poor consumer will suffer. Congress could never do anything but raise the price of things.

A petticoat is something what used to be that isn't.

The Chamber of Commerce of Ellwood City has discovered that there are about a thousand people in that place that have not paid any taxes, making a sum of about ten thousand dollars that they are shy on. We wonder how many get away without paying taxes in New Castle?

The roar of Niagara Falls is about equal in intensity measurements to the roar of a traffic cop when a motorist passes a red light signal.

About all the cities in Pennsylvania have been asked to put out signs so those running airships can tell what city it is and where is a city. It seems to us this should be done as sort of a self protection for cities as there will be reckless drivers in the air the same as there are on land now. Having them avoid a city will be a good thing, and the sign will help them do it.

The "intelligent voter" is the fellow who votes for the fellow who is his decision of just who constitutes the intelligent voter.

The ballot is the most dangerous thing that can be placed in the hands of the ignorant and vicious.

The population of the world is increasing about twenty millions of people each year and there are three births for every two deaths. According to that, there is no use worrying about the world being depopulated very soon. Being able to get enough people to work to feed that crowd is going to be the big job of the five-hour days and four-day weeks get into style.

An actress in her disgust said that husbands are all right for a time, but that's all. At the same time she said she was looking for some other go to marry. Most actresses do not keep a husband long enough to find out if they are any good or not.

Try as one will, it is almost impossible for the most prominent man in a community to be forgotten inside of two weeks.

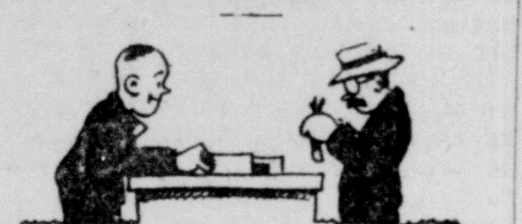

The owner of a sport roadster doesn't carry three oversized spare tires on the rear of his car because he thinks he will need them, but because he wants you to know he can afford them.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

General Pershing tells the story of a volunteer battalion that once joined General Grant. The latter admired their physique, but distrusted the capacity of the uncouth commanding officer to handle troops promptly and efficiently on the battle field, so he said: "Colonel, I want to see your men at work; call them to attention and march shoulder arms in close columns to the left flank."

Without a moment's hesitation the colonel yelled to his command: "Boys look wild! Make ready to thicken and go left endings! Tote your guns! Git!" The maneuver was a brilliant success and the self-elected colonel was forthwith officially commissioned.

Beer and Bull Fight.
A Gold Mine Hen.
Too Much Wealth.
The Track Is Paid.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. X. American, Inc.)

Men can get used to anything, if they must. For years we have had beer without alcohol; recently, with representative of the "cruelty society" looking on, 6,000 Americans enjoyed a bull fight without blood.

The bull fighters carried nothing sharp, only red cloths to annoy the bull. Cages were provided to which the annoyers could flee with safety. It may be that the red flag is really more cruel than the picaresque lance or matador's sword. Many humans prefer being hit to being insulted. The bulls may feel the same way.

More important than any gold mine is a single-combed White Leghorn hen named "Lady Lindy," living and laying at Gentry, in the wonderful state of Arkansas. She established a record for the whole world by laying 149 eggs in 149 days. The Missouri hen that laid 141 eggs in 141 days, and then rested, is ex-champion.

The egg crop is so gigantic in value that, if every hen could lay fifty additional eggs a year, the proceeds would soon pay the national debt, and it could be done if hens would devote to egg laying energy now used in molting, getting new feathers they don't need.

A featherless hen, like the hairless Mexican dog, living in an electrically warmed and lighted coop, with only four hours of darkness a day, intensively producing 1,000 eggs in three years, then disappearing in chicken stew, is conceivable.

And in that thin layer of dark gray matter called the "cortex," just beneath the human skull, there lies wealth, born of ideas, greater than all the wealth in the big earth.

A gentleman of Yonkers was accused of being drunk and causing his large police dog to "attack a child." The child, eight years old, was bitten while the dog's owner looked on. In Chicago, where gambling on the race tracks is legalized because self-indulgent rich men and grafting politicians want it, this happened: The Lincoln handicap was run. Official reports show that the foolish public bet $655,000. The track got $42,575 of that money and paid $2,500 to the state. It also paid the state 20 cents each on 18,000 paid admissions.

Of the gambling money, race track gentlemen got $42,575, plus the proceeds of 18,000 paid admissions, minus 20 cents a head. The state got $6,100, the foolish public left its money at the track.

THE PACIFIC ERA

Roger W. Babson, the well-known statistician and economist, in an address the other day said that:

"If statistics mean anything, the Pacific Coast will be the most active and densely populated section of the United States in the future."

For this he gives three reasons. The first is that the conditions of life are pleasant in California. There is no snow or ice, the climate is benign, the earthquakes are negligible and altogether human life can be carried on more agreeably than elsewhere.

People are ruled by their feelings. As a rule they go where it is the most pleasant.

California has an advantage over other places in that its climate is not enervating. It has semi-tropical luxuriance, at the same time it does not have the debilitating weather such as we find in Cuba.

The second reason he gives is that the West Coast has decided agricultural advantages over the rest of the country. As a nation increases and progresses, its demand for wheat and corn declines. As it waxes prosperous it consumes more fruit, green vegetables and nuts.

All these things thrive on the Pacific Coast. The answer is that this coast is increasing at the expense of the decline of the Middle West.

This increase, due to pleasant conditions of life and to the right kind of crops, is evidenced in bank clearings, railroad earnings and foreign trade. The answer is that this coast is increasing at the expense of the decline of the Middle West.

The third reason Mr. Babson gives is that the coming is to be a Pacific Ocean era. The Pacific is destined to excel the Atlantic in world commerce. He declared that Europe had shot its bolt with the World War and that for the next fifty years it will decline.

The world has long been under the dominance of Europe. America heretofore has been a European colony, culturally speaking.

With the significant growth and changes taking place in China and Japan, and with the Pacific ocean traffic, this dominance of Europe is severely threatened.

The Pacific Ocean will be the market place of the world, said Mr. Babson, in the next generation. Monday — Baiting The Corporations Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

My Towns—Hicksville

There are several Hicksvilles. I suppose. I remember having heard of one on Long Island, New York, where there was a plebiscite on the question of changing the name of the town.

The name Hicksville was retained, and very properly. There is no sense in changing your name just because a gang up the river pokes fun at it. The better way is to make your name one worthy of respect, and the gang up the river will be ashamed of itself.

Vaudevillians and columnists use the name Hicksville somewhat derisively, at times. But so do they use Kokomo, Oshkosh, Wichita and Kalamazoo as butts of wit, and all of these are good and flourishing towns, even though their names may make grist for the funsters.

The Hicksville I want to talk about is in Ohio, not far from Ft. Wayne, Ind., and on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio. It is a small town, as you may have suspected.

Hicksville has three banks, and you can't get yourself snubbed, high-hatted or coldly turned down in any one of them. If you're honest, those Hicksville bankers will know it, and they'll cash you check, though you be from Prague or Bangkok. Nobody will offer you a Forty-second street

IT MAKES 'EM FIGHT

The Adjutant General of the United States Army changes every few years. The Adjutant General just displaced thought it wise that in time of peace the officers of the United States Army should be permitted to wear on their ordinary duty civilian clothes, only putting on the regulation uniform for special occasions. The new Adjutant General took office about six months ago. He did not approve of his predecessor's order regarding uniforms, and has ordered that every officer of the United States Army should wear at all times his full uniform. The field uniform for his ordinary work, dress uniform for state occasions.

Now the ordinary work of an army officer of the United States at this time is confined to office duties in different Cantonnements. He spends most of his time at a desk, and the army service uniform of an officer is extremely uncomfortable to wear, while seated at a desk day after day, performing duties similar to that of any civilian office man. The Sam-Brown belt and the clanking saber chains are mighty uncomfortable, to say nothing of other parts of an officer's uniform which galls this or that particular point of his anatomy when seated. The Adjutant General in his Order said that "The uniform is a badge of the fighting man." That was the only reason he vouchsafed in making the order.

LOCAL REVIEW
NEARLY READYPrinter Now Working On St.
Mary's Historical Review Copy.TO BE ISSUED
SEPTEMBER 5

Historical Review to be issued by St. Mary's parish on Labor Day, Monday, September 5, in connection with the dedication of the new church of the parish and the observance of its 75th anniversary, is now in the hands of the printer and is rapidly nearing publication day.

It gives promise of being one of the finest civic efforts of the kind ever issued in this city. Scores of cuts as well as many pages of historical data are included in this work of art which will be much sought after.

Pictorial Outlay.
Included in the pictorial outlay in the civic section of the Review are those of the Jameson Memorial hospital, New Castle hospital, Scottish Rite cathedral, New Castle News building, New Castle free public library, the some of the B. P. O. Elks, the city and county officials, the Ben Franklin and New Euclid avenue junior high schools, the city police force and also of the fire department. These pictures are accompanied by an accurate history of the places and individuals pictured as well as a record of facts concerning the postoffice and the officials of the school district and Scottish Rite cathedral.

Famous Team.
Included among the other local historical facts is an article of interest in local sport circles, concerning the famous Barry club of St. Mary's parish, which was sponsored by Rev. Fr. M. J. Brennan, a former assistant of the parish, and coached by former Sheriff "Bill" Andrews.

The basketball team of this organization is still remembered in western Pennsylvania athletic circles. The club was named in honor of Commodore John Barry, founder of the United States navy, and was one of the first fruits of the efforts of Father Brennan, when he took up his duties here, just after being ordained to the priesthood. A lover of athletics, Father Brennan brought the enthusiasm of the recent college man to the organization. He soon whipped into shape one of the most formidable collections of hardwood stars that New Castle had been privileged to see up until that time.

With former Sheriff Andrews as coach, the club rose to the front ranks of sport and climaxed its last year in 1914 by winning the city championship from the strong Y. M. C. A. quintet. The Barry club also sponsored creditable baseball and football teams and an eight-team basketball league for the younger boys of the parochial school. After three very successful years the club had to be abandoned through the necessity of taking over its quarters on the third floor of the school building for class rooms. Its players were eagerly acquired by various teams of the city, while three of the younger stars went on to the local high school, where they captained varsity teams in the sport in later years.

List Growing.
Rev. Fr. Frank S. Clifford, assistant of the parish and in charge of the publication of the Historical Review, announced today that the list of patrons and patronesses, through whose generosity the book is being made possible, is growing rapidly and that soon the opportunity to assist in the publication of the Review will be past.

Being a civic rather than a parish effort, the opportunity is afforded all the people of the city, regardless of race or creed, to participate in its publication as a patron or patroness and many are making the most of this opportunity.

The patrons and patronesses are divided into four groups: A, those who have given $100 or more; B, those who have given $50; C, those who have given $25, and D, those who have given $15.

Patrons and Patronesses.
The revised list follows:

WOMAN SHOTS AT MARAUDER

Officers Samuels, Lockard and Walls answered the call to Allen and Superior streets, during the night, to the effect that there had been some shooting in the district and that a woman had attempted to shoot a man two or three times.

Investigation developed the fact that Mrs. P. Askounes had discovered a man attempting to break into her home and had taken action to protect herself and her home.

According to the story told the police, the man attempted to get in through the front door, he then tried the front door and finally attempted to climb in a window at the side of the house, which was down at the top.

The officers scoured the district but were unable to locate the marauder. The man who attempted an entrance into the Askounes home is reported to have been about thirty years of age, five feet six or seven inches in height and had on a cap, dark coat, white shirt and dark trousers.

CAN'T PARK AT
POST OFFICEDriveways Are Now Barricaded By Order Of Treasury Department.

Due to persons who were not employees of the local post office using the drives and parking space behind the office, Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford has found it necessary to close the drive and the parking space.

This was done by order of the treasury department at Washington. Postmaster Crawford was advised that inasmuch as the ground being used was government property, no one except carriers who are using their cars on government business could park in the space back of the postoffice.

In the past, Mr. Crawford had appealed to local authorities but they replied that they had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Kirk Hutton Co. was awarded the contract for the erection of six iron posts, and the placing of three chains at the different entrances to the parking space back of the postoffice. "Some people disregarded the order of the federal government in other towns," stated Postmaster Crawford, "and as a result of their driving on federal property, they received notices to appear before United States court. If anyone should violate this order of the government and continue to park on post office property, it would be necessary for me to take his license number and to report him to the treasury department."

Pattern For The Disappointed

A Chat With Sunday School Pupils

The Golden Text

BY DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Some folks simply cannot stand prosperity. The richer they become in material things the poorer they become spiritually. But this was not the case with King David. His kingdom had become one of the greatest of the east; his reign had prospered in every way; he was dwelling in peace and luxury in his magnificent palace, but he did not forget Jehovah who had raised him from the sheepcote to the palace of a king. "And it came to pass when David dwelt in his house, that David said to Nathan, the prophet, 'Lo, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of Jehovah dwelleth under curtains.'"

The king saw the inconsistency of a fine palace for himself, while the ancient ark of the covenant, which was the symbol of Jehovah's earthly presence, still dwelt in the old tent. Moses had built for it in the wilderness 500 years before. So he determined to build for God a temple which should be in keeping with God's glory and far excelling the king's palace.

It would be good today if folks who live in fine homes would catch some of David's spirit and determine that God's house must in every sense compare favorably with the homes of those who call him God, and if successful business men were eager to equip their churches with the facilities which make for efficiency in their own businesses. Nothing is too good for God. So David thought when he determined to build the temple.

Nathan, the prophet, thought David's idea a capital one, and said, "Do all that is in your heart: for God is with thee." But that same night God corrected Nathan and ordered him to tell the king, "Thou shalt not build me a house to dwell in."

Fellow Rotarian.—

At the suggestion of Charles Metzler, the program committee have arranged to have Magistrate A. D. Prandon of Allegheny county, speak on "Morals Court, Its Problems."

We did not inquire of Charlie why he suggests a speaker on morals. Maybe it was just because Mr. Brandon was a former resident of New Castle, and again it may be because of some misconduct on the part of some of the members. Come and hear the truth.

How do you like this—Fine each member who sits two consecutive meetings at the same place and next to the same members.

So, in connection with the announcement which came as a disappointment to David, God gave him a promise which more than compensated. ## PLANNING FOR CLOSING WEEK

City Playgrounds To End Successful Season During Week.

FINAL PROGRAM AT GASTON PARK

Many events are being planned for the closing week of the city playgrounds. On this day the closing program will be given at the Gaston Park playground. Finals in several sports will be contested and the winners of these will be the city champions.

City champions in the following sports will be determined: baseball, girls' and boys' horseshoes, golf, quoits and volleyball.

A picnic will be held at the park at noon. Each child will bring his own lunch.

In the afternoon games will be played in the following: lawn ball, jacks, paddle tennis, tumbling, races and broad jumping. A display of industrial work will also be staged for the benefit of those who are present.

To vary the program, each playground presents a short program, consisting of orchestras, pantomimes and athletic stunts.

On Saturday, Aug. 26, the playgrounds will be closed for the year. Children will be permitted to attend the playgrounds on that morning, however. All playground supplies will be checked in on this day.

During the past week many interesting events were carried out at the different recreation centers.

At Gaston Park: The children at this playground had an interesting time this week. Each child was given two tin cans and a rope. The children put the tin cans under their feet and then tied the rope to the cans. The object was to see how fast they could go without falling or putting their feet on the ground.

At Junior High: Two very excellent bicycle riders were brought to the limelight in the races which were held at this playground during the week. They are Rose Gillett and Cyril Jones.

At Cronon: A circus was held at this playground during the week. An essay written by Betty Ponting about this playground will appear in The News some time next week.

At McCleary: A special event at this playground during the week was the swimming meet held Friday afternoon. Points were won by the following children: doggie paddle race, 20 yards, Elizabeth Lewis won for the girls and Bob Winger for the boys; in the third race Catherine Lewis came in first, using the breast stroke; free style racing was next, with Edna Winters winning the 30-yard race for girls and Charles Davies the 60-yard race for older boys. Edna Winters and Charles Davies also won the girls' and boys' back-hand stroke race.

At Sheep Hill: A doll show was put on. The flower garden planted and cared for by the children of the McCleary playground was judged the best by Mrs. Earl Sweeney and Mrs. Jack Griner.

Oscar Brown Local Bell Hop

Some bell hops are not as bad as they are painted. So, in commemoration of the efforts of one Oscar Brown, a man staying at the Leslie Hotel, who refuses to reveal his identity, has composed this little ditty:

"Who hops the bells at the Leslie in town?
Why, don't you know, it's young Oscar Brown,
He's the hoppiest hop that hops a bell,
That is, I'd say, in this man's hotel;
With elevator, bells and work to be done,
He's the best man in the whole blamed crew of one."

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE GENEROUS HEART
Fred Barnes, British actor, was left $425,000 by an American friend whom he had helped during a London air raid in 1916. The friend lived in Yonkers, N. Y. Now Barnes announces he will give more than $100,000 to Yonkers hospitals. There are men who regard the possession of easy money as a real responsibility. The generous heart makes the world at least a tolerable place to live in.

CURIOSITY
Civilization proceeds through human curiosity. Commander Byrd's expedition into the Antarctic regions will cost $250,000. Byrd and his companions will explore an enormous unknown territory. They will be gone handclapped. Edsel Ford and others will furnish the money.

Fortunate are they that there are a few adventurous souls who have so much curiosity about what lies beyond the horizon that they are willing to risk their lives to find out. Thus human knowledge grows.

HOPEFUL
It is pleasant to hear from the credit manager of a great New York hotel that 97 per cent of hotel guests are honest. Even honest people are usually not more than 97 per cent honest. Many of us who wouldn't cheat a hotel deceive ourselves by not admitting to ourselves our real motives. If 97 per cent of us give ourselves real and honest reasons for our acts it is hopeful.

THE SACRIFICE
When American Legion young men go to France for their convention they will see rows of white crosses that mark the graves of their comrades. They will be glad that the United States government, by marking these graves, has shown that it has not forgotten. But how about the rest of us? Have we forgotten? And what is being done here and abroad to make it evident that the sacrifice of those young men whose graves are marked with crosses, was not in vain? What are the rest of us doing about that?

WHERE MAN LEADS
There are few things to be said for man in comparison with woman. But man can yet boast that he will not follow fashion blindly and so far as woman. Most of the absurd styles in clothing that make us laugh are to be found in women's garments, not in men's. Of course men look funnier than women—they can't help that. That's not a matter of fashion. But men have more courage to wear what they like and for the most part they refuse to be made ridiculous by their tails.

Making Progress On School Addition
Workmen on the new addition at the Senior high school on Lincoln avenue are ready to pour the concrete for the foundation at the present time.

As the work has been progressing rather slowly, it is quite probable that the new addition, with its 20 rooms, will not be ready for occupancy until the fall of next year. F. L. Orth, principal of the school, stated yesterday, however, that there is a possibility of the new section being ready for use by the opening of the second semester of this term of school.

He said that about 180 new students will enter the institution next February, 1928. The five portables at the side of the main building will have to house this new army of students if the new addition has not been completed by that time.

PLAN BUS LINE IN MEADVILLE
MEADVILLE, Pa., Aug. 20.—Buses will replace trolley cars as means of transportation on the local streets sometime between now and Labor Day, officials of the Northwestern Electric Service announced Thursday.

A hearing on the application was held in Erie on June 15, and although the Public Service Commission at that time, it is said, looked upon the change with favor, nothing was received until Thursday.

Lines to be discontinued by the company include those other than the trunk lines that pass through the city in the direction of Erie and Harrisburg.

Hundred Million Dollars Worth Of Business Done By Farmers At Home

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20.—Roadside markets have done a roaring business during this touring season and a conservative estimate places at $100,000,000 the produce that motorists will buy direct from the farmers in 1927.

NATIONAL OFFICERS OF THE W. C. T. U. WHO WILL BE PRESENT AT THE FIFTY-THIRD CONVENTION IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 20.—The shrine of the white ribbon movement—the home of the late Frances Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Evanston—is the rallying point of leaders of that organization, August 23. National and state officers will be there complete arrangements for the 53rd national convention to be held in Minneapolis, Minn., August 25-September 1.

They will be joined by hundreds of delegates from all parts of the country and all will board the "White Ribbon Special Train for Minneapolis." W. C. T. U. members consider this an important occasion as it will be the last national gathering before the political campaigns of 1928. The organization hopes to help make the next administration "bone dry." As threats have been made by the wets in crucial states women who have fought through two decades to get prohibition into the federal laws have rallied the old crusading spirit and are planning to fight to see that their work is not undone state by state.

Among Those Present. Among the national leaders are: Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., national president, who received more votes in a political contest than any other woman in the United States. This was when she ran for the United States senate in New York state in opposition to Senator Wadsworth. She is also the only deaconess at large in the Presbyterian church; Mrs. Ida B. Wise-Smith, Des Moines, Ia., vice president at large; and Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, Evanston, treasurer of both the world and national W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Frances P. Parks of Evanston this year completes her 19th year as a corresponding secretary of this organization of half a million members. Mrs. Sarah H. Hoge, national recording secretary, Lincoln, Va., helped make that state dry. Mrs. Nille Burger Springfield, Mo., assistant recording secretary, is known in the Ozarks as Senator "Jim" Reed's most active political woman foe in the wet and dry fight.

Mrs. Adrianna Hungerford, president of the Colorado W. C. T. U., is another ardent dry who will be on hand for the convention as will Mrs. Harry Armour who helped lead the dries in the south and is known as the "Georgia Cyclone." Dr. Valeria Parker of New York, director of the organization's fight on the social evil; Cora Frances Stoddard, Boston, scientific temperance authority, are other prominent members who will be present.

Returns to Old Stamping Ground. When Miss Helen Hood, president of the Illinois W. C. T. U., boards the "white ribbon special" for Minneapolis she will be returning to the city where 43 years ago she reported to a similar convention that the Chicago and Northwestern railroad had decided to take action on the organizations plea to discharge railroad engineers who drank while on duty.

The hostess organization is the Minnesota W. C. T. U., whose president is Mrs. Josephine E. Sizer.

Baby Provides Answer To Passport Problem Of Mother Detained

Mrs. Jeanette Francke, whose difficulties with the passport regulations of two countries were solved by her little son's American citizenship.

By DAVID H. GLICKMAN
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. In the case of a woman born in India of British parents, who married an American citizen in Shanghai, China, and divorced him in the United States, what is her nationality?

It sounds as if it were one of those trick questions, but it isn't. It presented a grave problem to United States port authorities here, which was finally solved only by stretching the provisions of the passport law to permit Mrs. Jeanette Francke to sail for China with an American passport.

Her Home in Shanghai.

Mrs. Francke's home is in Shanghai, where her parents reside. She came to this country some months back, with her six-month-old son, Lloyd, to complete proceedings for divorce from her husband. When she came to begin her return journey the problem arose as to her nationality. Under the British law she is an American citizen, having married an American, and having no second husband. The divorce didn't have any bearing on the case, and the British consul could not visa her passports. On the other hand, the American regulations declared that she is still a British subject, regardless of her marriage, because she was born under the Union Jack, and is not now the wife of an American citizen.

It was little Lloyd who eventually unconsciously provided the key which unlocked the situation. His American citizenship is unquestioned, deriving from his father. His home is in Shanghai with his mother's family. It was obviously impossible to permit a six-month-old baby to cross the Pacific alone, and the American authorities, therefore, issued to his mother a special permit to travel with him "as a matter of convenience."

SENATOR COUZENS PROVES PUZZLE AT WASHINGTON

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Senator James Couzens' declaration for Herbert Hoover for President is a reminder that Senator Couzens is a mighty hard solon to classify.

Here he is coming out for Hoover!—big business of the big business; choice, next to Coolidge, of New England industrialism; of the Andy Mellon school of financial thought; a rock-bound conservative—an intelligent one, with a keen eye to the necessity for adopting conservatism's principles to up-to-date conditions, but, for these very reasons, all the more formidable a conservative.

Yet James Couzens of Michigan has had outbreaks of seeming radicalism in the Senate that have made "regulars" doubt whether he didn't belong in the same pigeon-hole with such irreconcilables as Norris and LaFollette.

It's easy enough to understand why Hoover appeals to Couzens.

The commerce secretary, as all men know, is the personification of efficiency. He has made his department the most perfectly running machine that ever functioned under the government. The complaint's frequently been made that governmental machinery generally wastes a great deal of power. No such fault as that's to be found with the Commerce Department, under Herbert Hoover. It operates like a Ford factory.

Well—Couzens is the father, grandfather and all the rest of the ancestry of the Ford factory management. Is it to be wondered at that he thinks Hoover's the greatest executive ever? He is—in his way.

It so happens, then, that Hoover and Couzens are alike in that they both possess the qualities which appear to be essential to the make-up of an outstanding captain of industry, whether applied to the superintendency of an automobile plant, a big mining job, a government department or, probably, a national administration.

But it also happens that, while similarly equipped in this one respect, they're very dissimilar in another. You generally can tell in a few minutes' talk with a man of decided opinions on any political, social or economic subject, whether his mind gravitates naturally in the direction of conservative or advanced conclusions.

Hoover's gravitates strongly in the former direction; Couzens' perhaps even more strongly in the latter, sometimes to the verge of near-radicalism.

A big business mentality and a politically insurrectionary mentality aren't often combined in the same individual, certainly, but there's no doubt about it in Senator Couzens' case.

We all know his big business record. In the Senate he's repeatedly jumped the traces and voted with the most rambunctious insurgents. You don't hear so much about it in his instance as you do in some others, because he's no orator, but he's as independent as Senator Shipstead.

Clearly Hoover's efficiency is what fascinates him. The secretary's conservative slant probably never occurred to him. It isn't so noticeable in Hoover as in some other conservatives, due to his comparative indifference to partisan considerations. He'd as soon be a conservative Democrat as a conservative Republican—and there really isn't much difference.

Couzens might easily have a Presidential boom of his own, if he were eligible, which he isn't, having been born in Canada.

ABE MARTIN On the Mopps Divorce

Mrs. Dudley Foxhall Mopps, an Her Favorite Kentucky High Jumper, "Mazepa."

"The first hearin' of a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Bud Mopps, prominent horse-woman, social leader, an' Polish relief enthusiast, agin Dudley Foxhall Mopps, internationally-known authority on Wyandotte chickens, prominent clubman, an' familiar figure around the Skunk Ridge Country Club, wuz conducted today. Not since Charley Levine, rich an' with many years ahead of him, took chances on crossin' the ocean in an airplane, has anything so surprised our community, as only this mornin' Mrs. Mopps emphatically denied that a suit had been filed, an' appeared amazed at th' very thought of such a proceedin'. At th' conclusion o' th' hearin' Mr. Mopps gave out a statement in which he declared unequivocally that his wife's father has plenty of money, that he'd never had t' refuse his wife anything, an' that she'd never expected anything from him, notwithstanding th' many false rumors floatin' around. He said th' question o' alimony had never come up between them, that he would go t' work rather'n accept any alimony brought by Mrs. Mopps. Mr. Mopps says he an' his wife are still th' best o' friends, that even her father likes him. He says his wife has got a lot o' things she's allus wanted to do, an' that he's got some things he'd like t' do, so they've decided t' scatter out an' do em. Mr. Mopps is widely known for his work among chickens, a great lover of golf, an' immensely interested in th' recent geological discoveries in Africa, which have done so much t' clear up th' origin o' man. In discussin' his domestic affairs with a car washer at th' O. K. garage, Mr. Mopps said, "My wife is an exceptional woman an' one o' th' best wives I've ever had, an' I'm sure her life will team with fine accomplishments. She has a wonderful mind an' will do extraordinary things. My life has been greatly enriched by our companionship, an' I'll watch her future with great interest." Mrs. Mopps' father could not be found tonight, but made who've worked in th' Mopps home declare that th' Moppses knew th' first week o' th' married life that th' partnership would blow up, an' constantly discussed it. Mr. Mopps has been gittin' his breakfast downtown fer nearly a year, an' it has been noticed that he wuz allus in different about goin' home at th' conclusion of his daily foursome, but th' couple met occasionally an' gave evidence o' bein' happy in each other's company. Those closest t' th' Moppses are determined that th' romance is fer from bein' at an end. They insist that Mr. Mopps is still madly infatuated with his wife, an' that she is crazy about him. "Yes, it's true I'm leavin' Foxhall," said Mrs. Mopps t' a meter reader who wanted t' know th' facts o' th' case. "I do feel a little bad about it, I suppose, but Foxhall is a comparatively young man an' should have no trouble findin' work. His country club contacts should throw him in th' way o' findin' employment o' some sort, especially durin' th' summer months." Copyrighted John F. Dille Co.

Institutes are a fine thing for all teachers, and I have noticed that other branches of work have taken up the idea, only they call them "conventions", while we stick to the plain old term institute.

But a get-together meeting is a fine thing and especially when the problems of children are discussed. For, although there has been much done along the line of child psychology, yet I think that the surface of the field has been but scratched, and so every meeting at which new ideas are exchanged is immensely valuable to the teacher.

Compulsory military training in college is a good thing for the youth of the nation. It gives the boys lessons in military leadership that they could get at no other place, and it also teaches them some military tactics which may prove invaluable to the country if ever we are at war.

And what do the boys get out of it? That all depends on what they put in the course. First, if they pass with a good grade they get a top sergeant's commission in the reserve army. And then they get three hours a week spent in training under officers of the national army. They learn to be men. And even that should be enough.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Week centering on August 18 was expected to be above normal temperatures generally over the continent and about normal precipitation; this period was expected to be the warmest of the month and very favorable to the breeding of insect pests. Average temperatures are expected to trend downward from 20 to 23, causing three day period centering on 23 to be considerably normal temperatures generally. A storm wave of severe intensity will cross continent during week centering on August 27, general precipitation of North America will increase, probably becoming excessive near 30 in central, northern and eastern parts of section 1, central and eastern parts of sections 3 and 5, western part of section 6 and all of section 2.

The evaporation point or area from which will come the principal moisture for North America, has been changing during the past period and will be fully located in a new area by September 1; during September to end of 1927, the principal precipitation will come from due south, causing most precipitation to fall on southern and eastern slopes and land approaching those slopes; heavier precipitation will be expected in the southern part of continent than in northern part, relative to local norm; al amounts of precipitation, with little change in precipitation on northern and eastern slopes from preceding period.

The principal weather features of August 26 to September 30 will be the cold waves and above normal precipitation. Greatest extremes of below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation will be expected during and following severe storm periods centering on August 27 and September 3 and during and following dangerous storm period centering on September 25. Details of September weather features will appear in next weekly weather bulletin.

On November 10, 1927, the little planet Mercury will transit the Sun's disc, pass across the Sun's surface as viewed from the Earth. This phenomenon does not occur very often altho Mercury circuits the Sun in less than three months time. This occasion will furnish astronomers a good occasion to study many points, but to get a good view of the transit they will have to be near the equator and in or between eastern Africa and Australia. Mercury, being the planet nearest to the Sun, is very difficult to view when between the Sun and Earth. Most valuable information could be learned from a study of magnetic conditions on the Earth during this transit.

ROUNDHEADS WILL ASSEMBLE

Annual Reunion Of 100th
Pennsylvania Volunteers
Occurs Wednesday.

Wednesday, August 24, at the Central Presbyterian church, known in Civil war days as White Hall, the survivors of the 100th Pennsylvania (Roundhead) volunteer infantry, one of the more famous organizations of the days of the Civil war, will meet for the 62nd time, since the close of the memorable conflict between the North and the South.

While the ranks of those men, who helped to preserve the union by their bravery, has been thinned almost to the final point by the grim reaper, yet there are still quite a number who have sent word to the committee in charge indicating that they expect to be here on Wednesday for this momentous occasion.

Mayor William H. Dunlap and his citizens' committee have been actively engaged in planning for the occasion and the survivors and their accompanying relatives, as well as the widows of former members will be entertained in the usual pleasing manner.

The business session of the regimental association will be presided over by Colonel N. J. Maxwell of Grove City, Pa., the president of the association. The other officers of the association are Philip Wagner, vice president, and Miss Laura Stevenson, secretary.

During the afternoon there will be a short but interesting program presented. It will include addresses by Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the public school of this city, and Attorney Walter W. Braham, the former a veteran of the Spanish-American war and the latter a veteran of the World war. Mrs. Sara Dana Falls Davis will sing the favorite selections of the soldiers of the Civil war in her usual charming manner.
Those attending the event will be guests at a dinner to be served in the reunion church at noon by the ladies of that church.

Many Auto Drivers Get Stuck Because Gas Runs Short

Business Men Come First On List, According To
Troublemakers

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20.—Out of every thousand car owners, twelve get "stuck" at least once a month because they fail to replenish their gasoline tanks in season.

Furthermore, it is not the "flappers" of both sexes who are the most prone to this species of car trouble. As a matter of fact the most frequent calls for emergency road aid, on account of "out-of-gas," come from staid business men who get "stuck" on their way to the office in the early morning rush, just at the very worst moment, psychologically speaking.

How come? Well, it's this way. The Trouble Man of the American Automobile Association recently analyzed more than 500,000 calls for free emergency aid from as many A. A. motorists in the United States and Canada, during the year 1926 and the above bit of information about the car troubles of the business man was vouchsafed in connection with the analysis.

ADOPTS SLIDING SCALE IN FINES

Canton Seeks To Reduce Traffic
Accidents By New Plan

CANTON, O., Aug. 20.—In an effort to curb traffic accidents, which have resulted in the injury of forty persons and several fatalities during the last month, a new system of fines will be inaugurated in traffic court here Monday.

Chief of Police John Wise, Safety Director Howard Lehr, Bert Inessinger and James Lindsmith of the police traffic bureau and City Judges A. T. Snyder and U. S. Johnson announced today that they have worked out a new system of fines for minor violations that will bring stiff sentences for second and third offenders. The new scale will be used in connection with a filing system that will list all violations.

The proposed system will divide violations into three classes. The first will include all violations for parking laws and will bring fines of $1 for first offense, $2 for second and $3 for third.
Ignoring traffic signals, stop signs and officers will bring fines of $5, $10 and $15. Other charges in this group will include passing street cars and driving wrong way of one-way streets.
In the third class of fines will be $2, $5 and $10 and will include towing more than one vehicle, making illegal turns, etc.
Violations such as speeding, reckless driving or driving while intoxicated will go direct to municipal court.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Must have been entertaining some high official of the government unaware yesterday. An auto carrying District of Columbia license No. 43, went through the city.

There is one tough job still awaiting the building razors at the old structure of the First National Bank of Lawrence County, corner of Washington and Mercer streets. The solid concrete and brick foundation for the old bank vault is still to be torn out. It will prove some job for it was not built to be easily removed.

Boys curiosity is still the same. We noted a lad come along to one of the newly painted fire hydrants on North Mill street yesterday. He saw a sign on it, stating that it was newly painted. He hesitated a moment and then touched it with his finger, probably just to make sure that the sign wasn't stating a lie.

Pa Newc was rather astonished on entering the lobby of the postoffice yesterday to find a small dog snoozing on one of the tables used for writing purposes. Closer investigation revealed that the owner of the dog, a young lady, was writing a letter and had parked her dog on the table beside her.

Raising gladioli seems to have become a popular pastime in Lawrence County. There are a considerable number of places where they are now being raised on a wholesale scale. They certainly are beautiful flowers, at that.

Talking about flowers, there are a few bouquets coming the way of the city employee who keeps the public flower spots in shape. The flower beds are certainly appealing at the present time.

It is some job to put in the basement foundation for the addition to the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company building, the workmen are discovering. They are working below the level of the creek, and water insists on pouring into the excavations. Pumps have to be kept working most of the time.

As we watch the tokens going into the fare boxes on the street cars, and see them being sold over again by the conductors, we cannot help but wonder how many different people are handling these tokens in the course of a month or so. Would make an interesting story if one could be followed around.

There are still a considerable number of the "New Castle" plates for autos distributed by The News, a couple of years ago, seen on cars around the city. It is also noted that many of the cars are carrying "New Castle" signs of one nature or another. This is a commendable spirit.

French President Has Slim Chance Of Fishing On Vacation

(International News Service)
PARIS, Aug. 20.—Gaston Doumergue, head of the French Republic, cannot go very far away from his White House to go fishing on his summer vacation. He is a prisoner of his greatness and, during the seven long years of his presidency, must spend his holidays at the chateau of Rambouillet, a few miles away from the capital.

The President is an early riser, even when on a vacation. He is always up and in his park at seven in the morning, ready for a brisk walk of two hours throughout his domain, wearing a sport cap and unattended except by his two guards who walk at a safe distance. "Gastounnet" prefers to be alone but the government won't let him.

There is a fine forest at Rambouillet which the President knows from one end to the other. All of the guardians don't know him, however, so he must make sure to always have his "pass card" on him, which lets him through the private enclosures. The first day he arrived, he forgot it, and was stopped. Every day he chooses new paths but he invariably winds up by the farm and has a chat with the workers.

At nine o'clock sharp the President is back at the chateau freshens up with a bath, change of clothes and his early breakfast which is the usual French one of "café au lait" and petit pains with butter. Then comes the mail-bag from the palace in Paris and he retires to his little office which was once the boudoir of Marie-Antoinette when she had the good fortune to live at Rambouillet.

The midday meal he takes with Monsieur Sauger, his private secretary, and then retires to his fine library for the afternoon. Monsieur Doumergue is an insatiable reader. On the table ready for use, is his favorite paper-cutter, together with two pairs of horn-rimmed spectacles and the loud-speaker of the T. S. F. The radio is one of his greatest distractions. There is a second post in the dining-room and he has music with his evening meal.

"Early to bed and early to rise" is the President's rule, and unless there is some important business or guests for dinner, nine o'clock very often finds him in the land of dreams.

MOTORMAN GETS HIS MAN
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The fact that Harry Oleski of Brooklyn was operating a street car, did not stop him from setting the man whom he charged had cheated him out of $1,000. He simply increased speed until he caught up with the car ahead, where the man was sitting, pulled down its trolley, grabbed his victim, and called the police. Oleski had been promised a good job by the man if he would put up $1,000 in cash as security. That was the last he had seen of the man and of the $1,000.

REPORT HOTEL IN SMALL TOWN IS MOST ATTRACTIVE

Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Martin Are Enthused Over Wellsboro Hotel

Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Martin who recently returned from an eastern trip are especially enthusiastic over a Community Hotel where they stayed in Wellsboro, Pa., along the new Roosevelt highway.

While Wellsboro has but 5,000 inhabitants, it is a thriving little city filled with energetic people, who take a great interest in their town.

The community hotel which was one year old the first of August, was built entirely by subscriptions from the town people and is outfitted with all modern conveniences, that one might find in hotels in larger cities.

Paul Hilbert and his wife who was formerly a Miss Russell of Meadville, are the managers, and are given the power to run the hotel in their own manner. They have made their expenses and own during their first year which speaks well for their management.

Mrs. Martin was particularly interested in the lovely garden flowers which centered the tables, and in the lobby, and upon inquiry was informed that they were all donated. The people feel that it is their hotel, and each day many baskets of flowers are brought to make it more attractive.

Cities the size of New Castle, would do well to pattern from such a community as this, and boost their town. Make others take interest by being interested yourselves.

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Needle workers began forming today for another "death march" on the state house.

The line began forming today in the Essex street district, with the marchers wearing black arm bands, signifying they said, the "passing of justice in Massachusetts."

PEROTTA STOPS WALTERS AT ERIE

Knockout Comes In Second Round

Former New Castle Fighter Drops Walters Twice In First.

SECOND KNOCKOUT WITHIN ONE WEEK

By ED. FRITZ
(Special To The News)
ERIE, Pa., Aug. 20.—George Perotta, middleweight, turned in his second knockout of the week at the Arena tonight by stopping Bart Walters of Buffalo with a left hook to the stomach in the second round of a bout scheduled to go six rounds. One week ago he stopped Red Jaderberg, Walters, substituting for Bert Hillers, Toronto, who injured a wrist in training, was nine pounds lighter than Perotta. He was floored twice in the opening round and was on the floor when the bell sounded. Perotta finished him one minute after the second started.

Perotta in Shape
When the writer and a score of New Castle fans reached the Arena Walters and Perotta were climbing into the ring. Perotta looked to be in good condition and when the opening gong sounded he leaped into action.

He looked like the old Perotta—the lad who turned in knockout after knockout in sensational fights while a member of a New Castle fight stable, and it was not long until rights to the jaw and lefts to the body had Walters in distress.

Hook Floors Walters
Perotta kept on top of his lighter opponent and was determined to finish him as quickly as possible. Walters' blows did not seem to affect him. He lifted a terrific blow to the pit of Walters' stomach and the Buffalo lad went to the floor.

The former New Castle fighter returned to his corner while the referee counted and as soon as Walters got to his feet Perotta was at him like a cool, calculating bank clerk. They milled about the ring and a right to the jaw sent Walters down.

Bell Saves Him
When the referee reached five the bell ended the first round. Up to this time Perotta did not know a delegation of local fans had traveled to Erie but as he glanced from his corner he saw many familiar faces at the ringside.

He waved his hand in the direction of the New Castle fans and when the bell sounded opening the second round went after Walters and landed him with rights and lefts. Walters replied in similar fashion and they milled merrily.

Walters Knocked Out
Walters brought a wave of applause from the fans in the open arena by placing rights and lefts to the head. Perotta sent a broadside of blows to his body. They slugged in the center of the ring.

Perotta's vicious blows hurt the light Buffalo lad, who stepped away, firing for the head as he went. Perotta caught him in a neutral corner, drove a left to the stomach and Walters dropped to the floor, where he was counted out.

Weight Is Handicap
There is no question but that the weight advantage aided the former New Castle fighter, but it was not his fault he had been put in the ring with a lighter opponent. Bert Hillers had been scheduled, but an injury kept him from fighting.

Perotta looked to be in good shape and he fought with the same viciousness he displayed during his career in this city. The fight was his 21st knockout of 30 fights and fans of Erie like him.

Has New Manager
Perotta is under the management of Charles O'Connell, an Erie railroadman, whom, it is said, made some sort of an arrangement with Jimmie Dime of New Castle whereby Perotta could fight for him. George was formerly under a long term contract to Dime.

"Perotta has been behaving himself and I have no fear of his future. All he needs is to keep training. He needs a lot of boxing, and within a year I hope to have him fighting top-notchers," said O'Connell to the writer.

What Perotta Said
"I did not relish the idea of fighting this light boy tonight, but it is all in a night's work. I would have preferred Hillers, a boy of my own weight. I intend to keep training and will fight as often as I can get them," said Perotta.

Mr. O'Connell sent me to Union City for six weeks and I trained in the woods. I'm trying to come back and have no doubt but that I will be able to make the raffle."

Purdy Helps Perotta
Bill Purdy of Erie, who has been in the fight game for a long time, is handling Perotta's training and he said to the writer "Perotta is in good condition and he will be nursed along."

"I have been teaching him something about defense and it will not be long until he will be able to pick off a lot of punches that he has not been able to get away from. I think he is going to surprise a lot of people."

Payne Stops Wilson
Young Firpo unintentionally fouled Eddie Barry, Frankie Kerns and George Nichols fought a six-round draw and Cecil Payne stopped Scotty Wilson in the third round of the last bout of the all-star bill. Payne is a featherweight and he displayed great evidence of becoming one of this district's best 126-pounders. The writer did not reach the arena in time to witness the first bout.

Here's "Our Helen" Again

BY FEG MURRAY

THE MONA LISA OF THE COURTS!
HELEN'S POWER FACE IS AS MUCH AN ENIGMA AS THE FAMOUS SMILE OF LEONARDO DA VINCI'S MASTERPIECE.

ON MONDAY HELEN STARTS HER ATTEMPT TO REGAIN THE U.S. TITLE THAT SHE HELD IN 1923, 1924 AND 1925.

Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

The time: August 22, 1927.
The place: Forest Hills, N. Y.
The girl: Helen N. Wills.
Thus we have the setting for the attempt of a handsome 22-year-old miss to regain a bit of millinery that she first wore at the same place four years ago. Last year, as all the world knows, she was forced to give up her crown as national women's tennis champion of the United States because she had not sufficiently recovered from the attack of appendicitis that kept her out of the 1926 French and English championships.
Now, as the British titleholder in singles and doubles, Helen Wills goes into the Big Battle with added strength, new confidence and increased experience. She should, from what she has shown in tournament play this year, defeat the best that England, Holland and America have to offer, and win back the precious title of her own country that, right now, must mean more to her than almost anything else.

This "Helen of the Deft Hand" is most interesting person. That she is intelligent is taken for granted. Nobody plays such tennis, or makes Phi Beta Kappa, that scholastic honor society to which Helen belongs, without having plenty of brains. But athletes with brains are not always interesting, because they usually talk only of the sport they compete in. Miss Wills' favorite topic of discussion is art—her life work and her chief interest outside of her tennis. "Tennis is more of a diversion with me; it could never take the place of my ambition to be an artist," quoth the fair Helen, and went on to add that she would never turn professional because her life is too full of other things, and would be full even without any tennis!

Helen is no Jack Sharkey in her speech. Far from it. She is modest and demure, but knows what she likes and wants. She never knocks an opponent, or an unfriendly critic, and her famous "poker face" often breaks into an enchanting smile. A hearty laugh and Helen Wills are not strangers by any means, either. She has to have a sense of humor to bear up under all the stuff that is written about her—including this!

Schalk Having Hard Time Managing White Sox To Suit Comiskey

Owner-Manager of Chicago Americans Takes Player Signing In Own Hands.

Schalk Feels Same Fate That Befell Collins, Rowland, Gleason And Others.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—According to varied accounts sifting in from the Middle West, Ray Schalk is not getting the best break in the world as manager of the Chicago White Sox. Of course, the Chicago White Sox have taken it on the jaw as time goes on, and Ray is no different from anybody else, except that he has quite a jaw.
Anyhow, Schalk is supposed to have been given the same run-around this year that was tendered to Eddie Collins and others in previous years.
The story is that the players are constantly spied upon when the team is on the road, which is all right as long as the manager knows about it, which Schalk doesn't. He hasn't had anybody spied upon. Apparently the owner of the club didn't think it necessary to apprise his manager of what was going on, and in consequence there was a little stranger in the ranks and Schalk was as much at a loss to account for him as was anybody on the club.
Only several days ago Johnny Most appeared for his first practice since the attempted strange designs on his jugular vein. His appearance was as much of a surprise to Schalk as it was to the general public. The owner of the club, Charles A. Comiskey, apparently thought it wasn't necessary to notify his manager that the player was ready to go on.

Owner Does Bossing
What Comiskey apparently is doing to Schalk is only what he did to Eddie Collins, Johnny Evers and other men who handled the club. It seems that a certain type of club owner must do the bossing and that same type must have a manager for some reason, hitherto unexplained. Sometimes the selection does not meet with popular favor and the public naturally conceded that the man is going to go wrong. It never figures that way in the case of Schalk.

Only an internal upheaval could dislodge a man of this type, yet public opinion is such that mere results can be taken at face value and a team like the White Sox can rid itself of a manager like Schalk without the slightest commotion.

But if Schalk goes you can figure that the owner-manager is supreme in this case—that for some reason this owner prefers to pick his own players and decide how they will play. Collins couldn't get by under these conditions. Schalk did for a comparatively few weeks.

A few days ago certain players were announced as having been purchased by the White Sox for next season. At that time Schalk said he had no knowledge of these purchases. It seems to me that this is an illuminating example of how little Ray Schalk knows about the management of the Chicago White Sox.

"Bucky" Harris Is Fined One Hundred
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—"Bucky" Harris, scrappy leader of the Washington Senators, received a notice from Ban Johnson, president of the American League, today that he had been fined $100 for his recent altercation with Umpire Clarence Rowland. The attack on Umpire Rowland occurred in a recent New York-Washington game. Johnson asked that Harris pay his fine with a personal check. The fine was paid.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

The Braves beat the Phillies 12 to 1 in 10 innings, the total of which was probably bigger than the attendance.

Charles Comiskey, White Sox owner, is 69 years old and he probably feels twice that when he sees the standing of his club.

There certainly isn't anything sour about Molla Mallory's tennis even if she does eat lemons between matches.

Paavo Nurmi and Edwin Wide will race at Berlin, probably trying to beat the record set by Bill Hohenzoller on his way out in 1948.

Kaiser Bill went so fast toward Holland that he forgot his mustache wax. So he grew a beard to cover up his shame.

It's a safe bet that only 160,000 of the 161,000 who are to see the Dempsey-Tunney piece will squawk about their seats.

It's beginning to look as though the Pittsburgh Pirates cannot withstand the pace—or the Cubs.

PLAY ELKS SUNDAY AT YOUNGSTOWN

The New Castle-Youngstown combined team of the O. and P. league journeyed to Massillon today, where this afternoon they will engage the Agathons in an important league contest.

The Massillon boys played the locals to a 0-0 standstill here Thursday night at Centennial field and the locals are anxious to get back at them. It is likely that Jamieson will take the mound again today. Jamieson pitched a one hit game here last Thursday against the Agathons.

On Sunday afternoon the New Castle-Youngstown team will battle the Beaver Falls Elks at Idora Park Youngstown. The game is called for 3 o'clock Eastern Standard time.

Gehrig Crashes His 39th Homer

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The home run duel between Buster Gehrig and Babe Ruth is getting hotter as the Yankees swing through the West. After Ruth had made a great start to tie him, Gehrig forged to the front again by hitting No. 39 against the White Sox yesterday.

Betting commentators here, however, are laying 7 to 5 that Ruth will be ahead of Gehrig at the end of the season.

Detroit Tigers Display Class

Bengals Have Captured Nine Straight Games And Are Headed For Second Place.

NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE TIGHTENS UP

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—With the standing of the National League pennant contenders remaining unchanged as a result of an even break in yesterday's "crooked" doubleheaders, the Detroit Tigers grabbed the baseball spotlight today. The battering Bengals have won nine straight games and are only one game behind the Senators with the ambitious Athletics crowding both teams for second money.

"Buzz" McWeeny of the Brooklyn club, trimmed Chicago 6 to 1 after Sheriff Blake had whitewashed Brooklyn in the opener 3 to 0. Jess Petty, Blake's opponent has not been given a single run to work on in his last four starts.

Pittsburgh showed a powerful, concentrated attack in plastering the Giants 9 to 3. Manager Donie Bush forgot all about slapping that $50 fine on Cuyler when Kiki, a pinch hitter, swatted a triple with the bases loaded. Grimes won a 5 to 2 decision over Ray Kremer in the nightcap however. In the opener Hornsby hit his 21st homer.

The pitching classic of the day was contributed by Kent Greenfield of the Braves who held the Cardinals to two hits. Boston won 6 to 1. With Sherrell on the mound the Cards had a picnic in the nightcap and won 6 to 1.

The Phils dropped two to the Reds 5 to 3 and 1 to 0. Walker's single gave Red Lucas the decision over Jack Scott in the nightcap.

Lou Gehrig, 39th homer came with the bases empty and Hoyt of the Yankees lost a 3 to 2 verdict to Blankenship of the White Sox.

The speeding Tigers whipped the Red Sox twice 5 to 2 and 14 to 7. The Red Sox pulled a triple play in the second game.

The Browns hung up their third straight victory over the slumping Senators 6 to 1. Wingard helped win his own game with a homer and a double.

Rube Walberg of the Athletics, also won his own game with a single that beat Cleveland 5 to 3.

Pirates Break Even On Friday

Win And Lose In Final Clashes At Polo Grounds.

MEADOWS TAKES HIS GAME EASILY

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Aug. 20.—Winding up their season's sojourn at the Polo grounds, Donie Bush's Buccaneers won the first game from the New York Giants, and then dropped the second, thus splitting the bargain.

Pitching the opener, Lee Meadows allowed nine hits, while his running mates totaled 15 from Larry Benton, Southpaw Frank Henry and Ben Cantwell.

Rogers Hornsby and Bill Terry touched Meadows for a pair of home runs which placed the McGraw men in the lead, but in the seventh inning the Pirates went on a batting spree and soon had the enemy completely at their mercy.

A pair of circuit slams were the feature of second struggle, with Paul Waner and Earl Smith batting them out. The Giants got but one homer in the last affair, and that was the smash of Travis Jackson, who hoisted the ball so high that it came down on the roof of the stands.

SORDS POINTS Jack Britton, After 24 Years, Is Still Here

By JACK SORDS

The ever present query, "Can Jack Dempsey come back?" must give Jack Britton, granddaddy of the gloved brigade a heavy, hearty laugh. Dempsey is just a rank beginner in the ring business when compared to Britton. More than a decade before the Manassa Mauler felt his nose annoyed by a gloved knuckle, Jack Britton was banging 'em and being banged.

The one-time welterweight champion has fought for 24 years and he's still fighting. Time seems unable to put the kyo on the hardy veteran. He was in the ring, a seasoned veteran, when most of the present day pugilists were indulging in nothing more strenuous than marbles. Now we find him slated for 10 rounds at Chicago against a person named Irish Johnny Jordan.

Britton isn't attempting a comeback either. He doesn't have to try coming back because he never left. Since 1904 Britton has been boxing with virtually no let up.

Of course, the big boys no longer worry over Britton, but the fact that he is still among those now mauling is a miracle indeed. As far back as 1918 when Battling Bill of Berlin was still taking on all comers the sharps had Britton on his way out. That was before his six-round setto with Benny Leonard, one of our few fistic marvels. How Britton outpointed Leonard easily is a matter of record. Four years later he won from the same Benny on a foul. And if Benny hadn't retired years ago Britton would probably be still after him.

Britton, born in Clinton, N. J., is 42 years old. His real name is William J. Breslin. His first fight was against Steve Kinney who promptly knocked him out in the first round. Ted Lewis beat him for the welter crown in 1917, but Britton won it from Lewis in 1919. In 1922 Mickey Walker, present welter king, won the crown from the aging but always able Jack.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Saw Chicago Cubs in one of their daily pennant battles here and that battle simply added to my belief—and the general one—that McCarthy has a great ball club—if not one that is set to win the pennant this year.

The game showed the Cubs to be a fighting, dangerous outfit. They were playing the Reds and won 7 to 2. The final box score didn't indicate that it was much of a game. But there was much to discuss in the playing of it.

The Cubs showed their spirit for instance in the third. Rube Bressler of the Reds laid down a grounder to young English, short-stop. The young man messed it up and Bressler was safe. Then the Cubs made up for the boot by pulling a lightning double play on Walker's batter.

George Kelly tried to start another rally by singling. A moment later he tried to throw the Cub infield off its guard by stealing—and was caught.

In the fourth inning Hughie Critz, a fast man on the bases, drew a pass. Catcher Hargrave drove a long single to right. Cliff Heathcote fielded it and whipped it to third in time to nail Critz. It was a long chance play and took a perfect throw. The point is that the bat wasn't overlooked.

Perhaps the game was made more interesting because none of the Cubs tallies were made with round-house clouts. There wasn't a home run or triple executed. The Cubs poked out nine doubles, however most of them being doubles by virtue of speedy work around the bases—hits that might have been held to singles with slovenly work by the runners.

The Cubs stole two bases incidentally. The hurrying of Percy Jones wasn't spectacular. He allowed the Red-legs nine hits. But he kept the hits scattered. The Cubs kept on Red Lucas' trail insistently and finally in the seventh drove him out in a rally that tied up the game.

McCarthy hasn't any ball players that are rated as "great." This partly because of the fact that none of them has had a real chance to show his stuff until this year. But he has a collection of good ball players who play together—for Joe McCarthy. Which is the answer probably.

HALL OF FAME

Nominating Benny Osterbaan. Because he is captain of the 1927 Michigan football team, a tough assignment for anyone, as all other Big Ten teams are out to "show up" the Wolverines. Because he was a sensation throughout the 1926 season. Because he is rated one of the finest ends in the west and the bulwark of Michigan strength now that Benny Friedman has gone on. And because it is a testimonial to his game that his quarterly spelled name is seldom spelled wrong by anyone!

Pirates Are Too Speedy For Umps, Says Donnie Bush

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates are too speedy for the umpires in the National League, the man who said this, is none other than Donnie Bush, manager of the Corsairs. It is true said Bush that the Pirate players for the most part are far too fast for the officials. The speed with which the Pirates run the bases, has the umpires guessing most of the time. We have lost several important decisions at third-base this year in the Polo Grounds, simply because the umpires were not fast enough, and they could not get to third with the runner.

Robins Pay Dollars For Failing To Hit

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, has evolved a novel scheme to strengthen his team's batting. Each player who does not make a hit during a game is compelled to donate one dollar to a special fund, and the end of the season the club's leading hitters will take the "pot."

The Robins, like all ball players, love their base hits dearly, but cherish their dollars even more. Hence they have had a double incentive to deliver at least one safe blow a game since the new ruling. The financial strain on the "Runless Robins" or Doless Dodgers is terrific, however, for they are the weakest hitters in the majors.

If the Dodgers continue to bat at their present low speed, the club's leading hitter should collect about $150 at the end of the season.

Glitch Assigns Series Umpires

Louis "Pick" Glitch, commissioner of the Twilight League, today announced the umpire selection for the third and fourth games of the series for the championship between Ryantown and the Lawrence Indies.

For Tuesday's game, Fahey will be umpire-in-chief, Nolte at first, and Price at third. For Thursday's game, Price will go behind the bat as umpire-in-chief; Fahey at first and Nolte at third.

Danish Draftsman Confesses Stealing Valuable Blue Prints

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Sven Dan Berg, 24-year-old Danish draftsman, is being held under $50,000 bail today following a hearing before a U. S. commissioner after his alleged confession of theft of secret plans for a United States battle cruiser. The blue prints were found beneath a stone near the new Art museum here on Parkway boulevard.

Berg's confession came after a severe grilling by department of justice agents. He formerly worked in the naval construction department at Newport News and it was there that he obtained the plans agents said. A mysterious letter to the chief of the naval construction department asking a reward for return of the plans and threatening to sell them to a foreign power if no reward was forthcoming led to the apprehension of Berg.

FOIL ATTEMPT AT BIG JAIL BREAK

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 20.—County authorities started an investigation today into a frustrated attempt of several prisoners here to make a dash for their liberty after attacking Thomas Kelly, 53, keeper of the county jail.

The prisoners, Elmer Houser, Wilkes-Barre and Henry Nannering, Pittston, broke the locks in their cells and attacked Kelly, he told authorities. The jailer managed to give the alarm before becoming unconscious. He was found to have received a broken finger and lacerations on the head and body.

After a short struggle the prisoners were returned to their cells by prison attaches. It was found that the locks had been broken. The cells of two other prisoners were found unlocked, authorities said.

Dope Peddling To Eastern Convicts Under Rigid Probe

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Discovery of drug peddling to convicts in Eastern Penitentiary and the arrest of Pike Harper, sergeant of guards, has developed into the most sensational narcotic case handled here for years.

Harper's confession probably will never be made known, it was said. Four men and a woman are being held in connection with the plot for smuggling dope into the prison.

Philadelphia police within the last five years.

This declaration was made by Lieut. Francis Dunn, commander of the police narcotic enforcement squad, in reviewing the dope situation here today. What the confession outlined and whom it involved, Dunn refused to make known. He did say, however, it was sufficiently startling to overshadow other cases handled here for years.

Highway Police Tell How Lights Can Be Adjusted

State Highway Patrolmen Zeiter and Coslow, who are in this district inspecting headlights of automobiles operating along the highways today gave the proper procedure of how to adjust headlights. Should persons follow this instruction, it is likely they will have no difficulty with the state highway patrol which operates day and night throughout Pennsylvania. The procedure is:

Place car on level surface so that the headlamps are 25 feet from a wall or screen.

Examine the bulbs and reflectors. Repair or replace them if necessary. See that the lenses are installed so that they cannot rotate in the lamp doors.

Examine focusing mechanism. See that it works freely but will not jar out of adjustment.

Measure Distance

Measure the distance from the floor to the centers of the lamps. Subtract the loading allowance and set marker on the wall or screen at that height.

Light the lamps. Cover one at a time and focus the other. Always focus with the lenses in place if the lamps have an outside adjustment.

Aim the lamps so that the top of the beam on the wall comes below the mark established.

Follow manufacturers' instructions in focusing controllable beam headlamps and aim the lamps so that with the vehicle loaded the top of the upper beam will at no time rise above the level of the lamp centers.

General Information

When adjustments are made properly, a shallow band of light will be thrown upon the wall with its top just below the established horizontal line on the wall. The road surface will be so well lighted that motorists can pass other cars conveniently and safely.

Where a lens is used, be sure that it is placed in the headlamp door so that the wording on it reads properly from the outside and that it is fastened securely so that it cannot rotate away from a truly vertical position. Where fluted reflectors are used, they in themselves accomplish the spreading of the light and require only a plain clear glass lens. It is important that the flutings of such reflectors be in a truly vertical position, with the part labeled TOP at the top of the lamp.

Check Every Month

For best headlighting results adjustments should be checked at least once a month, or when new bulb or bulbs are inserted, or whenever headlights do not appear to give sufficient road illumination. Keep lenses free from dust and dirt.

More road light can be obtained for each motorist without glare by having the headlamps adjusted as outlined.

Many garages, service stations, and motor clubs are today equipped to give the motorist expert headlamp adjustment.

Acetylene Gas Headlights may be used when the lamps are equipped with clear plain glass lenses, six inch spherical mirrors, and burners which consume not more than five-eighths cubic feet of gas per hour.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This column is not yet out of its swaddling clothes, and already it has an argument started. Perhaps you noticed Thursday night that one paragraph started "Nota Bene" and said that George Muse and Roy Jamison hadn't gone on their vacations yet.

If you remember your Latin you'll know that it means a "good note," but has been commonly used to denote a postscript or addition. Mr. Muse insists that in his case it means "Not a Bean" or literally broke.

Some of the literati who filter into this office seem to have parked their Latin at the door and like Time or Tide this column waits on no man for a literal translation.

Every now and then, exercising our prerogative of American citizenship we all take a nasty cut at the number and kind of laws we have. But it does seem as though Canada had a few at which we could laugh.

At the present time Ontario is experimenting with so called government controlled liquor and in order to get it one must be a resident. What constitutes a resident? One who is living in Ontario, either as a citizen there or in some domicile. A tent is a domicile, so is a hotel room.

But get this. You cannot drink in an automobile, but if you pull a branch down from a tree and tie it onto your car this constitutes a legal residence.

It was Omar Khayyam who said, "Oh this were Paradise enow."

Flash! Rev. George M. Landis just called the office and said that "Nota Bene" literally translated meant Mark Well. Which is what it was intended for on Thursday.

Two more New Castle Legionnaires are preparing to follow George L. Smith and John Shaw to France. The two, Harry M. Long and Orville Brown expect to leave inside of a week. Following the Legion convention in Paris they are going into Northern Italy.

What's the shortest route to Youngstown? You probably go by Coatsville, but a clocking shows the road by Bessemer and Poland to be about 2 1/2 miles shorter. And only one short piece of ashed road in it.

There's a beautiful lake out on the Butler road whenever it rains, just before you cross the tracks about 300 yards from the city line. It was high tide Thursday night and hitting it at 35 was just like plunging into a shower bath.

Visit Boy Scouts At Elliott's Mills

Downpour Of Rain Fails To Halt Program Of Evening

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., Aug. 20.—Fifty members of the Grove City Post of the American Legion, accompanied by a number of men from the United Presbyterian Men's Bible class visited the camp of the local Boy Scouts at Elliott's Mills Thursday night. Although the camp was drenched by a terrific rain storm throughout the entire evening the scouts were glad to receive their visitors and entertain them as best they could.

The local boys participated in archery contests, swimming contests and horseback riding for the benefit of the Legionnaires. Joe Ketter, well known local entertainer gave an amusing monologue in the light of the campfire during the midst of the downpour. The bugle and drum corps of the American Legion were to have aided in the evening's entertainment but were rained out not wishing to ruin their new instruments.

The men, a large number of whom made the trip in one of Patterson's special busses, arrived home last evening about 10 o'clock.

MOTORCYCLE REGISTRATIONS

Q. How many motorcycles are registered in Pennsylvania? Are there as many now as there used to be?

A. Less than half as many motorcycles are registered in Pennsylvania in 1927 as in 1918. That year was the high water mark and the total registration of motorcycles was 26,621. The registration in 1910, the first year a record was made, was 3,854. Since 1918 the total has been decreasing steadily until at the present time only 12,700 motorcycles are being operated under Pennsylvania license.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 20.—George Onufer stood up before Judge Iobst in domestic relations court here and swore that he loved his Valentine sideburns much too passionately to shave them off. He loved his wife, too, he declared, but if he had to choose between his wife and his whiskers, he would stick by the whiskers, against which the youthful Mrs. Onufer had entered a vigorous protest. Judge Iobst told them: (a) not to be silly, (b) to kiss, and (c) to make up. They tried the prescription and it worked admirably.
